Description

In early 2012 we were approached to design and manufacture a Triathlon Transition Rack for London's 2012 Games - the aim was to redevelop the famous Beijing design and add a British design stamp. If you were lucky enough to see the event you'll know that we succeeded.

Own your own Tri-transition Cycle Rack, identical to those we developed last summer. Whether you're buying for your club or simply want a world-class stand to practice with these are the cutting edge of transition rack design.
